Since 2016, following the appointment of Emanuela Prandelli as the LVMH Associate Professor in Fashion and Luxury Management at Bocconi University, LVMH has been contributing to the advancement of research, teaching and institutional activities in this domain. Every year, through this fruitful partnership, we organize various initiatives for Bocconi students to enrich students' knowledge with personal and professional viewpoints engaging a community of LVMH Managers and Bocconi Alumni.

The LVMH 2025 Conference will explore the future trends of fashion and luxury, the client experience and the talent management.
