Diversity, Equity and Inclusion

A CAMPUS OPEN TO EVERYONE

At Bocconi, differences in gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, nationality, ethnicity, religion, age, ability and socioeconomic status co-exist in a context of mutual respect.

We have also consistently promoted and implemented equal opportunity across many generations of students, actively subsidizing the education of the disadvantaged and deserving to provide them with the knowledge and tools that will help them realize their full potential: today as students, tomorrow as leaders. Indeed, social responsibility is an essential value of our institutional identity, and we allocate activities and resources to exemplify the ethical principles of solidarity and social justice. We are a University open to everyone, optimally performing a role in knowledge development without forgetting that of “social elevator.”

With students, faculty, staff and alumni from over 100 countries around the world, diversity is integral to our ethos. We are determined to pursue our core research and educational objectives in a physical and intellectual context where all members of our community receive - and offer to others - equality of opportunity and treatment, irrespective of their differences

Theory and Practice

Bocconi University was founded at the dawn of the 20th century from a two-sided story. Entrepreneur Ferdinando Bocconi wanted to enhance the practical skills inherent in business by integrating them with the more theoretical aspects of economics. In 1902 he decided to establish the first university in Italy to offer a degree in Economics, an institution he understood was crucial to the development of society.

Theory and practice are the two essential elements whose complementary synergy propels the engines of knowledge and injects the energy of innovation that still pushes us forward.

Today, our educational offer accompanies the entire cycle of lifelong learning: we provide programs, both pre-experience (Bachelor and Master) and post-experience (PhD, plus MBA and Executive programs at SDA Bocconi School of Management), almost all of which are delivered in English to an increasingly international student body.

Bocconi's educational offer has never stopped innovating: consistent with our identity, we adapt our vision to changes in society and the economy by venturing into related disciplines to provide a cutting-edge teaching experience. This dynamism has given rise to entirely new programs in Data Science, Arts and Culture Management, Political Science and Mathematics for Artificial Intelligence. Our students learn at least two foreign languages, and coding has been introduced as a compulsory course in the first year of all our Bachelor programs, so graduates are honorary citizens of the global data-driven economy.

TOGETHER

Bocconi was founded on the vision of an entrepreneur who strongly believed in the role of higher education to promote economic and social growth. For this reason, collaboration with businesses is still central to our identity today – it is part of our DNA. Our vast and various array of relations with companies and institutions allows us to carry out innovative projects together at all levels: research, managerial education, human capital development, recruiting and employer branding.

The University actively promotes events for the student body to meet these organizations, hosting numerous activities both on and off campus. The solid grounding and competence of Bocconi graduates are confirmed by how quickly they are absorbed into the international job market and the excellent reputation they have among employers.

Through numerous strategic partnerships and initiatives such as the B4i - Bocconi for Innovation hub, we make our know-how available to the entire entrepreneurial ecosystem, to support the growth of ideas, startups and innovative projects. Where others see complexity, we see motivation.

INNOVATING TOGETHER

Ours is a truly urban campus right in the heart of Milan - a European business, financial and cultural center where history blends with modernity, tradition with innovation. The atmosphere is lively and dynamic: cultural and musical activities, sports, social engagement projects, student associations and events all contribute to a feeling of togetherness.

A major expansion of the campus was recently completed, a stunning example of visionary thought come to life, a place where the ideals of aesthetics, function and sustainability meld to nurture the ideas of future leaders – tomorrow's game changers. Next door to the rest of the campus, it adds a beautiful residence hall, state-of-the-art buildings for SDA Bocconi and a multifunctional sports center open to the public. The new area, designed to minimize energy consumption, also includes green spaces to complement the city parks in our neighborhood. University and Sustainability

SMALL STEPS,
BIG STRIDES

Bocconi's foundation in 1902 was based on a set of ethical and responsible core values that have guided it to a robust and lasting focus on sustainability issues. Bocconi undertakes direct initiatives in many areas, including energy efficiency, saving resources, reducing the use of materials such as paper and plastic, and recycling waste.

We believe that we have a responsibility to be a strong voice in the local, national and international debate on sustainability, not only providing our commitment and expertise, but also integrating the Bocconi model with the needs of the local community and Italian development system.

We intend to drive change by presenting a new idea of entrepreneurship, aligned with the real needs of society, that is capable of delivering a tangible contribution to address global challenges. This can be accomplished both through research, to build new knowledge for the benefit of society, and through education – providing students with the necessary tools to become key players in this change. Our goal is to achieve more sustainable, inclusive development geared towards future generations. ●
