Course description and objectives

This course is designed for beginners and introduces students to the fundamentals of spoken and written Russian, while providing insight into selected aspects of Russian culture.

Particular attention is devoted to the Cyrillic alphabet, pronunciation and reading skills during the first weeks of the course, providing a solid foundation for subsequent grammatical and communicative development.

By the end of the course, students will be able to read and write using the Cyrillic alphabet and communicate in simple everyday situations through basic spoken and written Russian. They will also become familiar with selected aspects of Russian culture and society.

The syllabus below outlines the main topics and language contents covered during the course. The sequence and scope of individual topics may be adjusted according to the pace of the class and the students' learning needs.

Audience

The course is open to all Bocconi students.

Prerequisites

No prior knowledge of the language is required.

Duration

30 hours

Teaching mode

The course will be only taught in person. Online mode will not be provided.
