

Faculty Search Announcement

BOCCONI UNIVERSITY, MILAN
Department of Policy Analysis and Public Management
Position Available in Political Science

The Department of Policy Analysis and Public Management of Bocconi University, Milan, Italy, invites applications from political scientists for positions at the full professor level. While area of specialization is open, we are especially interested in comparative politics and/or international relations scholars with significant quantitative methods or analytical skills.

Research topics of particular interest are comparative studies of democratic institutions, democratization in developing countries, experimental political science, European institutional design, conflict analysis, culture and institutions, political economy and sociology of group formation and group interaction.

Priority will be given to candidates with an empirical research agenda.

RANK: Full.

SALARY: Commensurate with qualifications and experience.

TO APPLY: curriculum vitae, statement of interest, research statement and teaching evaluations should be submitted in .pdf format via the on-line e-form which can be found at www.unibocconi.eu/recruitingseior

Closing date for the call: March 31 2016